Already in 1860 I was preparing the following Jātaka for the press, but finding that I could give only a very imperfect text, as I had but one MS. to publish it from, I laid it aside, being dissatisfied with my task.

Since that time, however, a translation of it has been published by Alwis in his „Attanagalu-Vansa“, Colombo 1866, and from its contents, or rather from what it does not contain, Prof. Weber has last year, in his treatise on the Rāmāyaṇa („Über das Rāmāyaṇa“, Berlin 1870, aus den Abhandlungen der königl. Akademie der Wissenschaften), drawn such important inferences as to the redaction of the Rāmāyaṇa that some scholars who take a lively interest in Indian literature, and among them Prof. Weber himself, have deemed it necessary that the Pāli original of the Dasaratha-Jātaka should itself be laid before the public. This I have now been able to do through the kindness of Mr. Robert C. Childers who procured me a paper transcript of the Jātaka from Ceylon, and I venture to think that my text is now as correct as the present state of MSS. and Pāli scholarship will allow; but for future researches, a few difficulties are still left, such as laddhassāsesu, pāletum etc., riddles which can scarcely be solved until more texts are published, so as to give us further materials for comparison.

There are several tales in the Jātaka-Book which treat of allaying sorrow. As a specimen of these, I have, in the Appendix, given a short one, viz. the Sujāta-Jātaka, the introduction of which is analogous to that of the Dasaratha-Jātaka; verses 5-7 thereof are also to be found in Dhp. p. 96, and occur again in the Jātaka's 365, 403, 441 and 446. From the Sutta-Nipāta I have also given, in the Appendix, the Salla-Sutta which has 5 verses in common with the Dasaratha-Jātaka, and I have further added the Devadhamma-Jātaka which, as regards its subject, has some resemblance to the Dasaratha-Jātaka, and of which the text now given is better, I believe, than that which is to be found in Dhp. p. 302. The Mahājanaka-Jātaka is rather long, and too corrupt in our MS. to be printed from that alone, nor do I think its immediate publication absolutely necessary, as the Right Rev. Bishop P. Bigandet has already given a faithful abstract of it in his „Life, or Legend of Gaudama“, Rangoon 1866, p. 412.

With regard to the transliteration I have followed my former system except in two points: first, I have not considered it necessary to distinguish the letter h from h used only to mark the aspiration of another letter, as no confusion can take place, and so I have rejected h as ill-looking; secondly, I have adopted the horizontal line - to denote a long vowel, that I might have the advantage of reserving ' for the accentuation, and ^ for contractions. On this point I follow in the track of Baudry, Bollensen, Muir, Rosen, Subhūti, Trumpp and others. I retain m, and reject m̄, with the dot under the letter, because this makes it appear as if the character belonged to the linguals. I also retain s, because the dot under it suggests the connection of this letter with the linguals.

Vowels: a ā, i ī, u ū, r ī, lr.

Diphthongs: e ai, o au. Semi-consonants: m̄, h.

Gutturals: k kh, g gh, n̄.

Palatals: c ch, j jh, ñ, (ç).

Dentals: t th, d dh, n, (s), (l).

Linguals: t̄ t̄h, d̄ d̄h, n̄, (s̄), (l̄).

Labials: p ph, b bh, m.

Sibilants: ç, s, s̄, h.

Semivowels: y, r, l, l̄, v.

THE DASARATHA-BIRTH.

„Come Lakkhaṇa and Sītā.“ This the Master related, (while) living at Jetavana, concerning a householder whose father had died. For he, when (his) father was dead, overcome with grief, abandoned all work and became a slave to grief. The Master, at the time of dawn, surveying the world and seeing his (the householder's) happiness in (the possession of) the fruits of the state of a sotāpanna, after walking about in Sāvatthi on the following day, and after holding (his) repast, sent away the bhikkhus, and taking (with him only) one samanā as an attendant, went to his (the householder's) house. Accosting in a mild voice him who had sat down after bowing (to the Master), he said: „dost thou grieve, O upāsaka?“ and having been answered: „yes, Lord, grief for (my) father oppresses me,“ he rejoined: „O upāsaka, the sages of old knowing thoroughly the eight realities (of life), when the father (of any of them) had died, did not in the least grieve,“ and (when) called on by him he told a story:

In (times) past (there lived) in Bārāṇasī a great king. Dasaratha by name, (who) after abandoning a reckless life reigned with justice. His queen (who was) the head-wife of 16000 women bore (unto him) two sons and one daughter. The elder son was the sage Rāma by name, the second the prince Lakkhaṇa, the daughter the princess Sītā by name. Afterwards the queen died. The king, when she was dead, after having for a long time given way to the sway of sorrow (was at length) brought to reason by (his) ministers, (and) when he had performed the necessary funeral ceremonies he set another in the place of queen. She became dear (and) pleasing to the king. She afterwards having conceived and having gone through the ceremonies (on occasion) of her conception, bore a son. They named him prince Bharata. From love to (this) son the king said: „(my) dear, I grant thee a boon, accept it.“ She having accepted (it, but) leaving it in abeyance (for a while), at the time, when the prince was (about) seven (or) eight years (old) went to the king and said: „Lord, a boon was conferred by you upon my son, now grant it him.“ „Take (it, my) dear.“ „Lord, give the kingdom to my son.“ The king snapping his fingers (angrily at her) reprimanded (her saying): „wretched outcast, my two sons shine like masses of fire, thou askest (me to give) the kingdom to thy son after having put them both to death.“ She (was at first) terrified (and) entered the inner apartment, (but) on subsequent days she again and again asked the king for the kingdom. The king, however, not granting her that boon, thought: „women, as (well) known, are ungrateful (and) treacherous, this one either by writing false letters or by resorting to mean bribery will have my sons killed,“ (and) so having summoned (his) sons (and) told them the matter (he said): „(my) dears, if you (continue to) live here, there may be obstacles (in your way), go (therefore) to a neighbouring kingdom or to the forest, come back at time of my funeral pyre and seize upon the paternal kingdom,“ (and) so having said, after again calling the astrologers and asking (them) the limit of his life, and hearing that another twelve years would pass (before his death) he said: „(my) dears, after the lapse of twelve years (hence) return and raise the (royal) umbrella.“ They said „well,“ bowed to (their) father and descended from the palace weeping. The princess Sītā (saying): „I too will go away with my dear brothers,“ bowed to her father and went out weeping. These three having gone out surrounded by a multitude (of people), and having, after sending back the multitude, gradually entered the Himavanta, built a hermitage in a region abounding with water (and) where various kinds of fruits were easily to be had, and resided (there) subsisting on fruits. The sage Lakkhaṇa, however, and Sītā, demanding of the sage Rāma (said): „you stand in our father’s place, therefore do you stay at the hermitage, we will bring fruits and nourish you,“ and so they took (his) promise. From that (moment) the sage Rāma remains there. The others brought fruits and watched over him. (While) they were residing (there), living on fruits, the great king Dasaratha ended his days from sorrow for his sons in the ninth year (after their departure). Having finished the funeral rites over him the queen said: „Raise the umbrella for my son, prince Bharata.“ But the ministers (said): „the masters of the umbrella live in the forest, (and) so (they) did not allow it. The prince Bharata (saying to himself): „I will bring my brother the sage Rāma from the forest and raise the umbrella (for him),“ took the five royal insignia, reached with a four-fold army his dwelling-place, and after halting the army at a short distance entered the hermitage with a few attendants at a time, when the sage Lakkhaṇa and Sītā had gone to the forest. Having approached the sage Rāma, who was sitting at ease and without desires at the door of the hermitage like a fixed golden statue, and having bowed (to him) and, while standing apart, told the tidings of the king(’s death), he fell down at (his) feet together with the attendants and wept. The sage Rāma neither grieved nor wept, there was not even the slightest commotion of his senses. While Bharata was thus sitting weeping, the other two at the evening-time came back bringing (with them) various kinds of fruits. (Then) the sage Rāma thought: „These are young, they have no discriminative understanding, as I have; if on a sudden they are told: ‘your father is dead,’ they will not be able to bear the sorrow, (but) their hearts will break; by some means I will get them to go down into the water and (then) I will tell (them) these tidings.“ Then showing them a pool in front of them (he said): „At length you have come, this be your punishment. go down into this water and stay (there,“ and) so (having said) he at the same time pronounced the (first) half-stanza:

1 a. „Come Lakkhaṇa and Sītā, both go down into the water.“

They, at (his) mere call, went down and stayed (there). Then telling them those tidings, he pronounced the (other) half-stanza:

1 b. „Thus says this Bharata:
‘The king Dasaratha is dead’.“

Hearing the tidings of (their) father’s death, they became insensible. He again told them, (and) they again became insensible. Thus for the third time having become insensible, the attendants raised them up, took (them) out of the water and comforted (them). They all sat mutually crying and lamenting. Then prince Bharata thought: „my brother prince Lakkhaṇa and (my) sister princess Sītā, having heard the tidings of (their) father’s death, are not able to restrain their sorrow, but the sage Rāma mourns not (and) laments not, what can be the reason of his not mourning, I will ask him,“ (and) so asking him he pronounced the second stanza:

2. „By what strength (of mind), o Rāma, dost thou not mourn what is to be mourned;
having heard (that thy) father (is) dead pain does not overwhelm thee.“

Then the sage Rāma, telling him the reason of his not mourning, (said):

3. „What cannot be preserved by man, even if much bewailed, for such a thing's sake why should the intelligent (and) distress himself. [wise (man)]

4. For both the young and the old,
(those) who (are) foolish and (those) who (are) wise,
both the rich and the poor,
all (are) tending to death.

5. As ripe fruits always are in danger of falling, so born mortals
always are in danger of death.

6. In the evening some are not seen (any more)
(although) in the morning many were seen;
(and) in the morning some are not seen,
(although) in the evening many were seen.

7. If by lamenting
the fool who (only) injures himself, gains anything, —
let the wise (man) do the same, too.

8. (But) he (only) becomes lean (and) sallow, (while) injuring his own self,
 (and) the dead are not saved,
 lamentation (therefore) is of no avail.

9. As a house on fire
 is extinguished by water, so also the pensive, well informed, intelligent, wise man rapidly drives away arisen sorrow as the wind a tuft of cotton.

10. Alone a mortal passes away, alone he is born in a family;
 but the enjoyment of all beings has association for its highest (aim).

11. Therefore sorrows, even if they be great, do not rack the heart and mind of the wise (and) learned (man), of him, who sees through this world and the next after having known the law.

12. I however will give and enjoy, and I will maintain (my) relations,
 the rest I will protect;
 such is a wise (man's) vocation;“

(and) thus by these stanzas he elucidated the uncertainty (of all things). The assembly having heard this religious discourse of the sage Rāma, elucidating the uncertainty (of all things), became free from sorrow. Then prince Bharata bowing to the sage Rāma, said: „accept the kingdom of Bārāṇasi.“ „(My) dear, take Lakkhaṇa and the princess Sītā and go and rule the kingdom.“ „But you, Lord?“ „(My) dear, my father said to me, ‘after the lapse of twelve years then come and rule’, if I go now I shall not fulfil his words, but having passed three years more (here) I will come.“ „Who shall reign during that time?“ „Do you reign.“ „We shall not.“ „Well then, until my return these shoes shall reign,“ so (saying) he took off his straw-shoes and gave (them to Bharata). Those three persons, having taken the shoes and bowed to the sage Rāma, went to Bārāṇasī, surrounded by a multitude (of people). For three years the shoes reigned. The ministers, after placing the straw-shoes on the royal couch, consider the case. If it be badly considered, the shoes strike against each other. (Taking warning) by this sign they again consider (the case). At the time when the case is duly considered the shoes sit together noiselessly. The sage Rāma at the end of three years went out of the forest, and on reaching the city of Bārāṇasī entered the Park. Having learned his arrival the princes, surrounded by the ministers, went to the Park, and after making Sītā queen they anointed them both. Thus having received the (royal) unction, Mahā-satta standing on an adorned chariot, entered the city with a large retinue, and after a reverential salutation having ascended the upper story of the magnificent palace Sucandaka, he from that time reigned with justice during 16000 years, and (then) went to heaven.

„During ten thousand years and sixty centuries
the fine-necked and great-armed Rāma reigned.“

This stanza by him who possessed universal knowledge illustrates the matter.

The Master having given this instruction, summed up the Jātaka thus: — at the end of the (exposition of the four) truths the householder remained in (possession of) the fruits of a sotāpanna — At that time the great king Dasaratha was the great king Suddhodana, the mother (of Rāma) Mahāmāyā, Sītā the mother of Rāhula, Bharata Ānanda, Lakkhana Sāriputta, the assembly the assembly of Buddha, (and) the sage Rāma myself. The Dasaratha-Birth.

NOTES.

To constitute the text of this Jātaka I have had two Singhalese MSS., viz. that of Copenhagen described in Westergaard's Codd. Orient. p. 36 (C), and a Paper Transcript which Mr. Childers has kindly procured for me from Ceylon (C<sup>a</sup>). The text of the former being evidently the older, I have founded my edition on that, and I have not ventured to introduce the ameliorations of the latter into the text, excepting only double-nasals instead of anusvāra and a nasal.

Matapītika, so both MSS.; it ought, I suppose, to be written with a short i, but as the Burmese MS. of Jātaka 346 which I give below, reads matapittika I have not dared to alter it. Kuṭumbika (S. kuṭumbin) is in Pāli sometimes written kuṭimbika. Kālakata is sometimes written kālāmkata which I suppose to be an innovation. Upanissaya, in my translation of this word I have followed Clough who in his Singhalese Dictionary (see upaniçraya) renders it by „happiness, fortune.“ By Turnour (Mahāwanso p. 36,4) it is translated „perfection in piety“, otherwise pp. 24. 34. Alwis (Attanagalu-Vansa p. 175) renders the passage: „perceived that this person was predestined to attain the paths.“ But should not the word rather mean: confidence, firin belief, security? To show the use of it I quote the following passages, Jāt. 70: evaṁ tasmin arahattam (MS. arahantam) patte dhammasabhāyam kathā udapādi: āvuso, evarūpassa nāma arahattassa (MS. aran-tassa) u p a n i s s a y e sati āyasmā Cittahattha-Sāriputto chakkhat-tum uppabbajito, aho mahādoso puthujjanabhāvo ti; Jat. 41: pacchimabhadrikasattam na sakkā nāsetum, antoghaṭe dīpo viya hi 'ssa hadaye arahattassa u p a n i s s a y o jalati (MS. jalani); Jat. 461: Brahmalokam gantvā Baka-brahmuno (MS. -ṇo) dīṭhim bhinditvā dasannaṁ Brahma-sahassānam arahattam adāsi, anusam̄vaccharam tīsu Mañcalesu cārikam caramāno u p a n i s-s a y a s a m p a n n ā n a m manussānam saraṇāni c'eva sīlāni ca magga-phalāni ca deti. Mahārājā I have in my Two Jātakas (Journal of R. A. S. New Series vol. 5 p. 1) wrongly translated „emperor“, see Westergaard's „Om de indiske Kejserhuse fra det 4-10. Aar-hundrede p. 7. Agatigamanā, comp. Clough's Singh. Dict. In elucidation of this word I quote the beginning of Gaṇḍatinduka-jātaka: Aṭṭe pana Kampilla-rat̄he Uttarapañcāla-na-gare Pañcālo nāma rājā agatigamane ṭhito adhammena pamatto rajjam kāresi. Rājā (MS. rāja) gabbhaparihāram dāpesi; comp. Dhp. p. 78,6; p. 120,15. According to Abhidhāna (Subhūti's Edition v. 1002) parihāra is = vajjana, sakkāra and rakkhaṇa, it must therefore, I think, be understood concerning any act, by which one seeks to honour another person, in the present case concerning certain ceremonies that have taken place at the funeral and at the conception of the queen. Alwis renders: „he performed what was necessary to be done“ and „she who received the (necessary) protection to the foetus.“ Gahitakam katvā ṭhapetvā comp. Jāt. 530: Candā-deviyāpi varam adāsi. Alwis: „behaving as if (she had) accepted.“ Acchara is rendered by Clough (Singh. Dict.) „snapping the fingers,“ comp. Wilson and B. & R. at ācchurita. Jāt. 355: „imam nīharitum vattatīti“. „Sādh' āvuso, nīharā“ ti. Thero „mā idha vasīti“ accharam paharitvā nīhari. Nass a Mr. Childers thinks to be the imperative of nās = S. naç, and he consequently translates: „perish“. But to me it rather appears to be an adjective, comp. S. naçyat. Alwis has passed over the word in silence. Jāt. 451: tam sutvā Bodhisatto tassā „nassavasali kim kathesi, kāme sukham nāma kuto, viparināmadukkhā hi ete“ ti garahanto

This word seems to mean the same as gabbha (see S. garbha, garbhagr̄ha), an inner apartment, Abhidhāna by Clough p. 26 (by Subhūti v. 214). Mātugāma, Abhidhāna v. 231, S. matrgrāma, see Burnouf's Lotus p. 393. Akataññū = S. akṛtajñā. In Dhp. at v. 97 and v. 383 it is used in a different meaning. Mittadūbhī, this word occurs in the following different forms: mittaddu, mittadu; mittadubha, mittadūbha; mittadubhika, mittadūbhaka; mittadubhi, mittadubbhi, all of which correspond with the Sanscritic mitradruh, see B. & R. and Wilson. I know not whether it is to be written with a short or long u, the doubling of the b in one instance seems to point to a preceding long syllable. Alwis: „envious“. Pañña, a letter, S. parṇa. To show, that writing and books were in full use at the time when the legends of the Jātaka-Book originated I make the following extracts: Jāt. 424: amaccā „Hārita-tāpaso evam akāsīti“ rañño paññām pahiñimśu; comp. Five Jāt. p. 5, 9. Jāt. 209: „ekān pana gāthām bandhitvā paññām likhitvā kākamañsam pacāpetvā paññāñ ca māmsāñ ca setavaṭṭhena paliveṭhetvā rājamuddikaya lañchetva pesessāmi, yadi pañdito bhavissati paññam vācetvā kākamañsabhāvam ñatvā agamissati, noce nāgamissatī“ so „puññanadin“ ti imam gātham paññe likhi. Jāt. 433: so aparabhage mātāpitunnam accayena sabbaissariyam pañcipajji. Ath’ ekadivasañ ratanakoṭṭhāgārāni viloketvā varapallamkamajjhagato suvaññapaṭṭam āharāpetvā „ettakam dhanam asukena uppāditam, ettakam asukenā“ ti pubbaññatīhi suvaññapaṭṭe likhitāni akkharāni disvā cintesi. Jāt. 483: „Himavante catutthāya pabbatarajiyā suvaññavañño (MS. -ñne) moro carati, tassa mañsañ khāditvā ajarāmarā honti ti“ suvaññapaṭṭe likhāpetvā paṭṭasāra-mañjusāyam ṭhapetvā kālam akāsi. Ath’ añño rājā ahosi. So paṭṭe akkharāni disvā „ajarāmaro bhavissāmīti“ tassa gahañathāya (MS. gahana-) ekam luddam pesesi. Jāt. 381: aparabhāge rāja kālam akāsi. Mahāsatto tassa sariraparihāram kāretvā vinicchaye potthakañ likhāpetvā „imañ potthakañ olokentā aṭṭam tīreyyāthā“ ti vatvā mahājanassa dhammam desetvā appamādena ovaditvā sabbesam rodantānam paridevantānam eva saddhim Cullatunḍilena araññam pāvisi. Potthaka, a book, Abhidhāna v. 1006, S. pustaka. Jāt. 122: Bodhisatto mahāvibhavo setṭhi ahosi. Tassa bhariyā puttām vijāyi. Dāsī (MS. dāsi) pi ’ssa tam divasam yeva puttām vijāyi. Te ekato vaddhimsu. Setṭhiputte (MS. -putto) lekhām sikkhante ca dāso pi ’ssa phalakam vahamāno gantvā ten’ eva saddhim lekhām sikkhi. (Santike-Nidāna: evam imehi kāraṇehi mahāmagge solasa lekhā ākaḍḍhamāno nisidi. Tasmin samaye Tañhā Aratī Ragā ti tisso Māra-dhītaro „pitā no na paññayati, kaham nu kho etarahīti“ olokayamāna tam domanassappattam bhūmim lixhamānam disvā pitu santikam gantvā „kasmāsi tāta dukkhi (MS. dukkhi) domanasso“ ti pucchiṁsu.) Lañca, Abhidhāna v. 824; Jāt. 77: „bhante, ekam ubhatomukham assam addasam, tassa dvīsu passesu yavasam denti, so dvīhi mukhehi khādati. Ayam me pañcamo (MS. -me) supino, imassa ko vipako“ ti. „Imassāpi anāgate adhammikarājakāle yeva vipāko bhavissati. Anāgatasmim hi adhammikabālarājāno adhammike lokamanusse vinicchaye ṭhapessanti. Te pāpā pumñesu anādarā bālā sabhāyam nisiditvā vinicchayam dentā ubhinnam pi atthapaccatthikānam hatthato lañcam gahetvā khādissanti, asso viya dvīhi mukhehi yavasam.“ This word is evidently the same as the Mahrattie lāmcā meaning „bribe“ (see Molesworth). A corresponding word in Sanscrit I cannot trace. Dhūmakāla, Jāt. 410: „na mayhaṁ ghara-vāsenā attho, aham tumhe upaṭṭhahitvā tumhākam d hūma-kāle pabbajissāmi.“ Santaka, Abhidhāna v. 728: dependent upon; with, together with, accompanying. Jāt. 538: „amma, tvām kassa santakā?“ Jāt. 54: sabban tesam santakam gahetvā. Nemittaka, see Clough's Sing. Dict. at naimittika: a necromancer, a fortune teller, an astrologer; comp. B. & R. at naimittaka. Ussāpeyyātha potential of the causative of S. ut-cri; comp. Burnouf's Lotus p. 323. Phalāphala we might think should be resolved into phala-aphala, if we look to the following verses in Jāt. 524:

Aham Soño, mahārāja, tāpaso sahitamvato,
bharāmi mātāpitaro
rattindivam atandito.

Etam phalañ ca mūlañ ca
āharityvā, disampati, posemi mātāpitaro
pubbe katam anussaran ti;

and

Kacci nu bhotō kusalam, kacci bhotō anāmayam, kacci uñchena (MS. uñjena) yāpetha, kacci mūlaphalā bahū; further to the following passage from Jāt. 532: te assame tha-petvā vana mūlaphalāni āharati; but against it speaks a passage in Jāt. 409: ekam rukkham āruyha phalāphalam gaṇhāti, and we must therefore consider it as a compound of phala-phala with the elongation of the combining vowel, comp. Westergaard's Sanskrit Formlære § 408, and Childers' Pāli-English Dict., Article A. Alwis: „herbs and fruits.“ Yāpeti = S. yāpayati, causative of yā, to pass the time, see Benfey and B. & R.; in Pāli used in the derived sense of „living upon“ when construed with an instrumental. Paṭijaggim̄su, aorist of paṭijāgar<sup>a</sup> (S. jāgr), see Clough's Pali Verbs p. 17, 17, g being doubled on account of the latent r, and ā being shortened before the double consonant. Other forms of the verb will be found at Dhp. vv. 39. 60. 157. Sarīrakiccam kāretvā, having performed the body-act, i. e. the funeral ceremonies. This phrase is often used in this sense in Pāli, although not, I think, in Sanscrit. Kakudha, Abhidhāna v. 879 and v. 358, is always written so in Pāli, in S. kakuda. Bhaṇḍa = S. bhāṇḍa. Rūpikā, B. & R.: „Figur, Bildniss.“ Nirā-saka is derived from āsā (S. ācā), desire, Abhidhāna v. 162; comp. Dhp. vv. 97. 410. In Suttanipāta I find a similar adjective nirāsa in the following verse:

yamhi na māyā vasati na māno, yo vītalobho amamo nirāso panunnakodho abhinibbutatto, so brāhmaṇo sokamalam ahāsi, tathāgato arahati pūralāsam.

Alwis: „in the enjoyment of health.“ Ekamanta, see Five Jāt. p. 22. Sāyanha, so both MSS. Mahāwansa p. 2,<sup>2</sup> from the b. sāyanha, S. sāyahna. Parigaṇhanapaññā, comprehensive or discriminative intellect. Alwis: „The wisdom of taking things easy, of accepting all things with complaisance, of submitting to every condition of life.“ Sāvessāmi, causative of su (S. çru), Clough's Pali Verbs p. 15,21. 16,26. Upadḍha = addha (S. ardha), a part, a half, Abhidhāna v. 53. Āgacchantu, one would here expect the second person, not the third. Evāyam = evam ayaṁ. Sāsana (S. çāsana), a message, Abhidhāna by Subhūti v. 992, by Clough p. 128,15. Laddhassāsesu, so both MSS. The text seems to have been corrupted. I suppose we are to read laddhassāsesum, and consider this, as Prof. Westergaard has suggested to me, as a denominative of the compound adjective laddhassāsa (S. labdhāçvāsa), confident; accordingly the meaning must be: „They made them (feel) confident, they comforted, consoled them.“ Posa, Abhidhāna v. 227. Posenālapitam bahum, I have, as usual, adopted the reading of C, and resolve posenālapitam into posena ālapitam, taking the latter in the same sense as lapitam. But the Commentator, taking the latter in the same sense as lapatam. But the Commentator seems to have read lapatam which C<sup>a</sup> also has, and this then must be understood as a genitive absolute. Sa is, according to the Commentary, to be referred to viññū. Kissa I suppose we must resolve into kiṁ assa, in having dropped from kiṁ (comp. Dhp. p. 268) and ki assa having become ki 'ssa in a similar manner as we read in Jāt. 460: Janasandhava-kumāro ti 'ssa nāmaṁ karimśu . . . mahājana pi 'ssa ovāde ṣhatvā tāni dasa ṣhanāni püretvā saggaparāyano ahosi. If the Commentator is right in taking kissa as the genitive of kiṁ = kiṁkāraṇā, then we must supply „for such a thing's sake“ in order to make the construction correct. Dahara, this verse and vv. 5.7.8.9 are also found in the Salla-sutta of Suttanipāta which I give below. Vuddha, Dhp. p. 289. Dalidda is also written dalidda, Abhidhāna

v. 739, S. daridra. Ad̄ha, if we may believe Moggallāna, answers to S. ādhyā (Abhidhāna v. 725: ibbha, ad̄ha, dhanin=Amarakoṣa: ibhya, ādhyā, dhanin), but it might also, I think, be considered = S. rddha. Parāyana is in Pali written with a dental n, see Abhidh. vv. 858. 962. Phalānam etc., this verse is found in Rāmāyaṇa (per Gorresio vol. 2 p. 421 v. 4) in the following shape;

Yathā phalānam pakvānam nānyatra patanād bhayam evaṁ narānām jātānām nānyatra marānād bhayam.

Carey & Marshman (vol. 3 p. 411) and Schlegel (vol. 2 pars 1 p. 321) read: narasya jātasya. Pāto = S. prātar. Bahujjana written with two j's, either for the sake of the metre (comp. Dhp. v. 320, Mahāw. p. 79), or, as I rather suppose, by false analogy from puthujjana. Udabbahē, potential of ud+ā+bah (bah<sup>a</sup>, brah<sup>a</sup>, brūh<sup>a</sup> = vuddhiyam; Dhāṭupātha) of which verb I have met with the following forms: abbaha, abbahe, abbahi, abbūlha (Dhp. p. 96), abbahitvā, nibbahanti, paribbūlha. Kayira, I have not ventured to reject this form as it is repeated in the Commentary, although it is usually written kayirā which C<sup>a</sup> has also adopted. Peta = S. preta. Pālenti the Commentator renders by „yäpentī“ but I am unable to catch the meaning of this rendering. According to the context the verb must be understood, it seems, passively, I have however not met with any other instances of this kind. Parinibbaye instead of parinibbāye on account of the metre. Sutavā, nominative of sutavant = S. çrutavant, Clough (Singh. Dict.) at „srutavanta“: skilled in religious science, well versed in religious instructions. Tūla, see B. & R.; compare the following verse from Jāt. 129:

Daddallamānā (MS. -manā) āgañchum Tañhāya (MS. adds: ca) Arati Ragā.
 Tā tattha panudī (MS. panūdī) Satthā tūlamī bhañthañ va māluto (MS. māluko) ti.

Daddallamāna = S. jājvalyamāna; bhañtha = S. bhrañṭa; māluta = S. māruta. Eko etc., a fragment of this verse is still to be found in Rāmāyaña per C. Gorresio vol. 2 p. 429
 v. 12; Carey & M. vol. 3 p. 431; Schlegel vol. 2 pars 1
 p. 331), where we read:

yad eko jāyate jantur
 eka eva vinaçyati.

Tveva i.e. iti eva, see Dhp. p. 279. Dassam and bhokkham are the first persons singular of the future tense in the attano-pada of the verbs dā and bhuj. Ettaka, see Dhp. p. 350.
 Pādukā, Abhidh. v. 358. Pallamka, Abhidh. v. 308, S. paryañka. Saggapadam pūresi, he filled, completed i. e. finished the way to heaven; instead of saggapadam is also used saggapatham. Abhisambuddhagātha, this compound word often recurs at the conclusion of a story, but I am yet in a great doubt as to how it is to be understood. First the meaning of abhisambuddha seems doubtful, and secondly the compound may be understood as a karmadhāraya or as a tatpuruṣa. Kambugīva, see B. & R., comp. Abhidhāna v. 263.
